TAKING COOPERATION FORWARD

Interreg CENTRAL EUROPE is a funding programme that encourages cooperation beyond borders between public and private institutions. Financed through the European Regional Development Fund (ERDF), it helps innovative yet isolated ideas to grow into jointly developed, tested and accepted solutions for a better central Europe.

ON-GOING COOPERATION PROJECTS ON LAND MANAGEMENT

TOWARD A REGIONAL APPROACH TO LAND USE

Interreg
CENTRAL EUROPE
LUMAT

While land use is generally regulated on a local level, protecting the environment requires addressing land issues in broader regions. LUMAT brings together environmental agencies, researchers, and city and regional authorities. They cooperate to help prevent undesired spatial patterns of urban sprawl and land degradation in seven central European regions. The project will use its international knowledge base to develop sustainable, regional land management strategies.

BETTER MANAGEMENT OF URBAN GREEN SPACES

Interreg
CENTRAL EUROPE
UGB

Urban parks and gardens are a blessing, but if there is no common agreement on their use and care, they can become a burden. The UGB project seeks to develop more inclusive approaches for managing green spaces that provide us with fresh air. By involving a broader group of stakeholders, UGB develops more integrated and effective means for managing green belts with the application of methods of participatory planning, multi-level governance and geo-information systems.

REGENERATING POLLUTED BROWNFIELD SITES

Interreg
CENTRAL EUROPE
GreenerSites

With an estimated three million sites affected by pollution, Europe faces real challenges in improving brownfield areas. GreenerSites brings together an international partnership to develop nine regional action plans for cleaning up and regenerating unused or underused industrial areas. The project will also provide a common tool for brownfield regeneration and implement 11 pilot actions to test sustainable and innovative solutions.
